DESCRIPTION

A True Piece of Texas History in the Heart of Colleyville — NOW OFFERING PRESERVATION OR REDEVELOPMENT OPPORTUNITY Step back in time with this stunning and storied Victorian masterpiece, originally built in the 1880s in Bonham, Texas—complete with original railcar delivery receipts. Lovingly preserved and carefully relocated to 1.83 private acres in central Colleyville, this one-of-a-kind home showcases original millwork, soaring ceilings, intricate wood detailing, and craftsmanship rarely replicated today. From inspiring Sherwin-Williams' Painted Ladies color collection to appearing in a Reba McEntire music video, this home's legacy runs deep. Soon will be seen on a national cable television show and featured in several national publications. NOW OFFERING EXPANDED OPPORTUNITY: The historic structure may be relocated to a new site for continued preservation, or the property may be redeveloped. In the event relocation is not achieved, select architectural elements and historic materials will be preserved by the Seller to ensure the home's legacy lives on. This unique offering allows the next steward, preservationist, or developer to determine its next chapter. Listed by a Certified Historic Property Specialist with established relationships within Preservation Dallas, Preservation Texas, and the Texas Association of Structural Movers.
