DESCRIPTION

If you've been looking for a place out in the country, this 22-acre spread near Richland Chambers Reservoir might be it. The land is open and currently used for cattle. There's a small tiny home that works perfect for a bunkhouse after a long day on the lake or working on the land. A large 40x50 metal building is already in place, ready to be turned into your shop, with rough-in plumbing for a bathroom. Off the side is a 24x50 awning with a storage container tucked under it for extra storage. An old high-fenced garden area needs to be brought back to life so you can grow your own vegetables! The property also has three small ponds that draw in plenty of wildlife.
