DESCRIPTION

Set on one of Highland Park's most beloved streets, this 1928 Tudor blends historic character with modern luxury. Behind its classic brick façade and beneath a canopy of stately trees, the home offers a perfect balance of old-world charm and contemporary updates. The beautifully remodeled interior features four spacious bedrooms, a light-filled sunroom, and gracious living areas highlighted by original architectural details. The large, open family room offers an inviting fireplace and double doors that open to the pool and patio—perfect for effortless indoor-outdoor living and entertaining. The brightly updated kitchen is outfitted with marble sink, countertops and top of the line stainless appliances. Upstairs, the primary suite is oversized with a sitting area that opens to a balcony nestled among the treetops. Outdoors, enjoy resort-style living with a sparkling pool, lush mature landscaping, and multiple entertaining spaces. A large guesthouse provides ideal accommodations for visitors or flexible use as a home office or studio. Completing the property are a rare three-car garage and thoughtfully designed grounds that ensure both privacy and elegance. This is a rare opportunity to own a piece of Highland Park history—where timeless design meets modern comfort.
