DESCRIPTION

Most homes give you a backyard. This one gives you distance from the world. Tucked beneath mature trees on two private acres in Oak Leaf, this one-story Tudor estate isn't just a house — it's a retreat you feel the moment you cross the bridge to the front door. The long driveway pulls you in, quietly separating you from the noise of everyday life. Inside, space unfolds in layers — 4 bedrooms, 4 full baths, a formal dining room made for holidays, a breakfast nook for slow mornings, and a den wrapped in rich dark wood paneling with raised ceilings that feels like your own private hideaway. The living room soars with cathedral ceilings, exposed wood beams, and a commanding fireplace mantel that anchors the heart of the home. The primary suite offers an uncommon luxury — dual toilets in the master bath — a detail that speaks to both comfort and thoughtful design. Step outside and the tension disappears. A gated pool, expansive patio space, towering trees, and room to roam in every direction. A creek rests quietly along the side of the property, adding to the sense of seclusion. The 3-car garage is complemented by an 800+ sq ft detached garage — ready to become whatever life requires next. They don't build homes like this anymore — not on land like this. And once you're here, you may not want to leave.
