DESCRIPTION

An extraordinary expression of modern architecture, an award winning modern masterpiece by acclaimed architect Paul Jankowski, AIA, featured on the 2022 AIA Home Tour. Located in the vibrant Knox, Henderson area, this architecturally significant residence showcases striking white stucco, expansive glass, and exceptional design throughout. Thoughtfully designed for both everyday living and entertaining, the second level offers an open concept layout with a light-filled living and dining area, a sleek chef's kitchen with custom cabinetry, a large island, and a walk-in pantry. Expansive glass doors open to an outdoor living space, blurring the line between indoors and out and setting the stage for both intimate evenings and elevated entertaining. The first level includes a welcoming entry, office or den, and guest accommodations, while the third-floor primary suite provides a private retreat with stunning downtown views. Walls of glass, skylights, and curated lighting create a bright, airy ambiance by day and a warm, sophisticated glow by night. Smart home technology, integrated audio visual systems, and automated shading enhance both comfort and privacy. A rare opportunity to own a true architectural showpiece with a design-forward lifestyle in one of Dallas' most dynamic urban locations.
