DESCRIPTION

In the Oak Park neighborhood, this 3-bedroom, 3.5-bath single-family home offers a private front yard and a third-floor rooftop deck designed for those who value both quiet mornings and evening views. The main floor is dedicated to an open living room and kitchen area where the Level 4 wall finish and high ceilings create a beautiful, polished backdrop. The kitchen is built for daily use with a large center island with a breakfast bar, quartz countertops and shaker cabinetry. Living in Oak Park means having a home where the layout is intentional, moving naturally from your morning coffee in the gated yard to dinner in the open dining area. The second floor is where the home's organization really shines. At the top of the stairs, the landing is anchored by bonus space, giving you a functional place to work or lounge. The primary suite is a generous retreat on this level, featuring a spa-like ensuite bath and a custom walk-in closet with integrated shelving. A secondary guest room is also located on this floor, complete with its own connected full bath. On the third floor, a large flex space leads directly out to the rooftop deck and patio. This outdoor area is the best spot in the house to catch a breeze over the Oak Park community. A third private bedroom with an ensuite bath is also on this level, making it a great setup for a long-term guest or a media room. To handle the practical side of life, the home includes multiple attic storage spaces built into the floor plan, so you never have to sacrifice living space for extra gear. The Oak Park location keeps you within minutes of the West Highland Park area and the dining corridors of Turtle Creek. Within the community, you can head over to the neighborhood swimming pool or take the dog to one of the two dedicated dog parks. For those who travel or commute, being two miles from Love Field and near the Medical District, Downtown, and the Dallas North Tollway makes the location incredibly efficient.
