DESCRIPTION

Versatility and opportunity come together in this unique multi-structure property offering a dedicated studio workspace, separate two-story outbuilding, and an expansive private parking court. The main structure is complemented by a bright, built-out flex space with extensive cabinetry, ideal for a creative studio, office, or client-facing workspace. The detached building adds even more functionality with its own entrance and upper-level access, creating potential for additional workspace, guest quarters, or future income-producing use. A large paved parking area provides rare on-site capacity, making this property especially well-suited for an owner-user, small business, or live-work setup. Thoughtful updates in key areas, including a renovated bath, blend with original character and provide a solid foundation for further customization. The overall layout offers flexibility that is difficult to find in this location, with multiple structures and distinct spaces that can evolve to fit a variety of needs. Zoning and surrounding uses may allow for future reconfiguration to a multifamily property, offering additional long-term potential for investors or developers (buyer to verify). Positioned in a central Dallas location surrounded by a mix of residential, commercial, and institutional uses, this property presents a compelling opportunity for those seeking functionality, adaptability, and long-term upside.
